DEDICATION

"After 104 years of bachelorhood, we decided women would add an extra touch to Lehigh. If you want to be among the first 100 women to add the extra, get in touch."

Yes, Virginia. You can come to Lehigh.

And we began.
And the new dormitories were to have pay phones outside so men could call — what kind of security — And my fight for receptionists to provide some security and a "graciousness of living"

The summer orientation for 100 — where you picked your roommate on the basis of one night's experience.

And graduate Gryphons (Faith, Chris and Rita)
And we began . . . with 127 freshman and 27 transfers
The freshman rally — coats and ties —
You will not be able to use the steam room but you are getting full-length lockers and mirrors
You can sing in the chorus but can't march in the band —

What's it like —
Do you like it here —
You girls must have it made —
Has Lehigh lowered its standards?
What's it like?

The first Powder Puff football game
Carothers' raid on the fraternities
The nunnery, the jocks, and the zoo

And we began — and reality set in —

No hostility was open (with exceptions) but there were challenges all along the way:

Co-education is an experiment
Why do the girls get the best housing?
What is the woman's point of view
Isolation in the classroom
Women come to Lehigh for an MRS
We will not change curricula for women
They were supposed to major in languages and they're in biology!
The alumni: "I voted against co-ed"

And we began —
Ruth Hurley Vihon

From this beginning, Lehigh coeducation has come a great distance. To the 74 women who were here when it started and have helped to bring it this far — Lehigh's first graduating class of women — this book is dedicated.

COEDS AT LEHIGH

During the four years of coeducation at Lehigh women have suffered through endless generalizations about their personal lives, lived with only one ladies' room in a five-story building, and tried to be inconspicuous in a class with one other woman. They have also managed to join the Marching Band, head the Forum and SAC, edit publications, become members of the service organization Alpha Phi Omega, and the social fraternity for commuting students, Alpha Lambda Omega, form a Caucus and invite men to join, and form their own athletic teams.

The list is long, but the fact remains that women have definitely made their mark on Lehigh. Integration with a formerly all-male institution is never easy, but considering the uneven proportion of men to women, the women have been able to become active leaders in all facets of campus life. The controversy with the band was one of the most widely-publicized events during the women's brief history at Lehigh. The issue peaked in the fall of '73 when seven women were given the right to march with the men. Formerly they were only permitted to play from the stands. One female band member commented that the women have proved that they can "play and march as well and be just as gross as the guys."

Social life was possibly the largest barrier to overcome for Lehigh women, and it hasn't really been overcome yet. The ratio of men to women in the fall of 1971 was 31–1 and many men still imported their dates. Others, in their amazement over seeing women on campus, treated them as an oddity. Why? "It's gotten alot better here since we were freshmen", said senior Tom Whitten, "but it's still bad. It won't be good here until the ratio is even, which we're not going to get (The administration planned on levelling off at 800) There's very few women in my classes and there's no neutral ground. Girls feel like they're getting picked up if they visit a fraternity." To Whitten, a typical Lehigh coed is "heavy, mediocre and uppity". To combat this, another senior Mike Pennino suggested, quite seriously, that women should be made to "wear dresses and go braless" to improve the looks of the campus — which is an indication of how far Lehigh is from a completely healthy coeducation situation.

Nothing compared to the social situation in the fall of 1971. But the comments and observations of freshman, sophomore and junior women do not reflect an overall satisfaction with subsequent falls. Many say, "It's just not natural yet." Many women at Lehigh find themselves in a coeducational environment that is not true to its word. Its academic emphasis is lopsided in favor of men — a situation that needs remedy which may or may not be forthcoming. Inevitably, some negative attitudes about women were formed initially and still persist. Hopefully, with the addition of more women, these attitudes will decline as women continue to make a difference to Lehigh in the future, With input from student leaders, the help of administrators and the original impetus given by Ruth Hurley Vihon, former assistant dean of students, Lehigh coeducation got a good start — now we need more women to keep a good start going.

LIVING AT LEHIGH

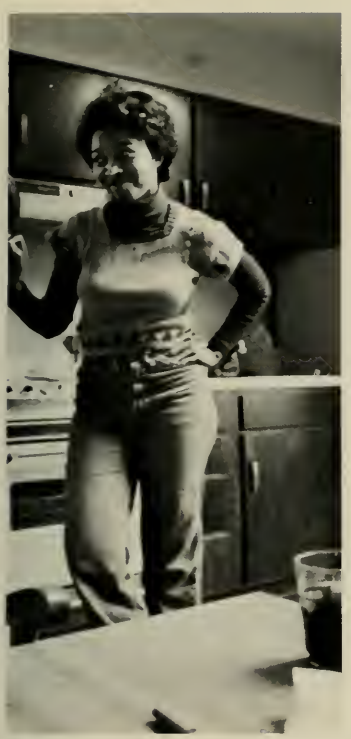
Coeducation has forever changed the face of the Lehigh campus — more superficially, but even more visible are the different ways of living to which Lehigh students have access. Fraternities and freshman dorms have the distinction of being the oldest living options on campus. As at most all-male or formerly all-male institutions, the fraternity system at Lehigh is well-regulated, formally-structured and diversified enough to accomodate the desires and personalities of almost every Lehigh male student. Some say that the predominance of fraternities creates an imbalance; a divisive influence among the student body. This criticism has declined in the last few years as living options have increased. Lehigh now offers more residence options than many universities of comparable size.

SMAGS

SMAGS (Saucon Married and Graduate Students) still has fewer married and graduate students than LU undergrads — and there is a diversity of opinion about that living option.

"If you have a car, it's great, otherwise, forget it." "I love having the fields right behind us. We can run around, barbecue, ride bikes. In the spring, it seems very far removed from school."

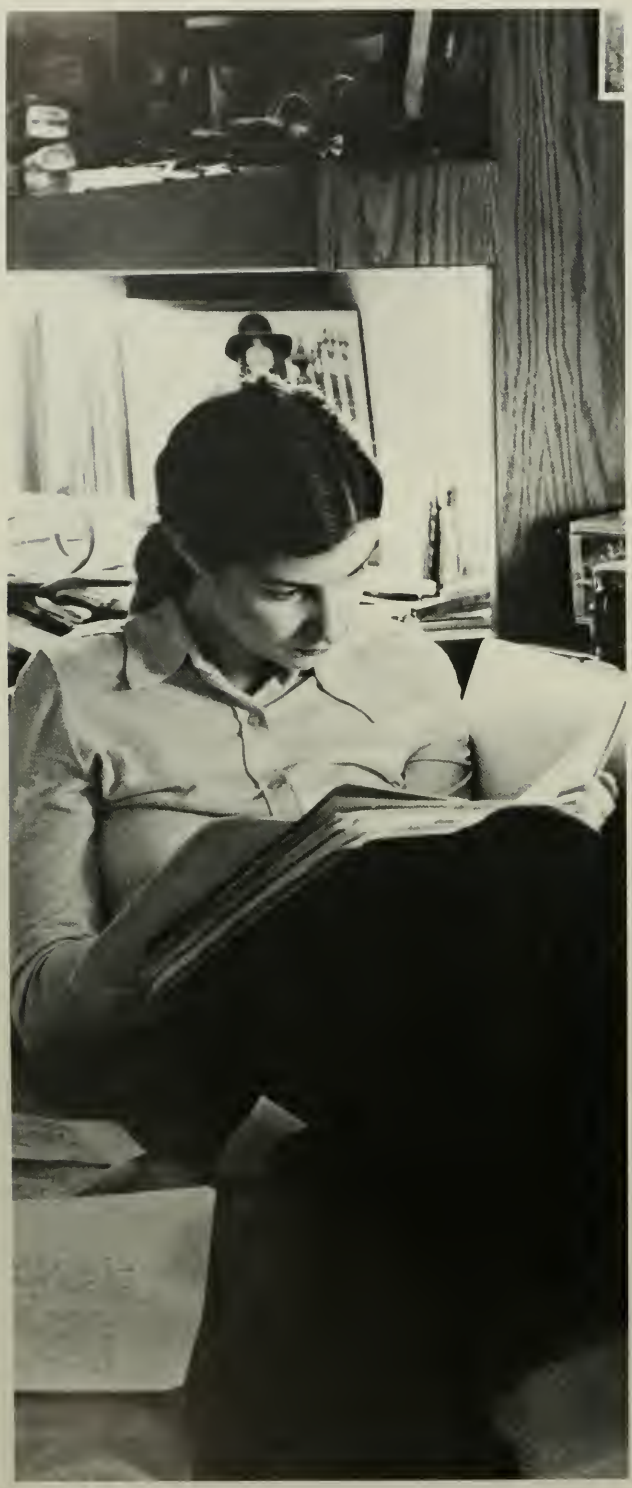
There are complaints on the construction, and appreciation of privacy. In addition, many SMAGS residents appreciate living close to Hellertown and the feel of a small town.



RH-11

ON-CAMPUS APTS.

If a student wants to stay on campus, but doesn't like the dorms, there is an alternative. RH-11 has finally appeared. Were they worth the wait? "Oh, yeah. It isn't just a dorm with 4 people in it instead of 40. You can entertain whenever you want and still have privacy." Some cite proximity to the snack bar as a major incentive, but naturally, there are drawbacks; quickly-deteriorating decor, for one. "They're not put together real well. Within the apartment, you can hear every word in every room." One of the major complaints has been the "defacement" behind the University Center. One student said, "I wouldn't say it wrecks the look of the campus, but I'd say it definitely doesn't fit in." Suggested improvements: "Closets! (there are none in RH-11), and more windows."



DORMITORIES

Most Lehigh students live in the dormitories; the infamous freshmen quad, centennials, M&M or Taylor. The freshmen quad is perhaps most easily characterized: rowdy, noisy, crude and proud of it. The addition of women to Richards two years ago seems not to have changed that spirit drastically. It is here that 80% of Lehigh's students are introduced to Lehigh — what an introduction. After that experience, the choice is: fraternity, off-campus, or another dormitory. Many choose centennials — newer, prettier, quieter.

M&M is in the center of campus and was the first dorm to be coed by sections, very successfully. Taylor-dwellers are fiercely protective of their house, looked down upon by most other residents, but they are probably one of the most cohesive living groups on campus.

OFF-CAMPUS

Off-campus living can encompass the South Side, across the bridge, or even, as pictured here, a 52-acre farm in upper Bucks County. Seniors Rodd Anderson, Bill Barry, Mike Ronan and Lou Terlizzi chose to live "off-off-campus" — 14 miles away. The obvious question is: "Do you really go to school?" Bill answered, "If you know you've got to finish school, you discipline yourself to getting up and over to school." Bill admitted to being skeptical of the arrangement at first but Mike was "gung-ho all the way." "There were times when Lehigh was the last thought on my mind, though." Lou added, "The house motto was 'drink 'til you stink', but it was a unique experience that we'll never be able to do again."

ACTIVITIES

Lehigh, as it has for many years, again presented this year a stunning collection of eminent lecturers, open to the public and free of charge. Blaustein Lecturer Dean Rusk appeared for three days: April 1, 2, 3; one of which saw the fall of Saigon, making his lectures particularly significant.

EVENTS

Rusk on Detente: "One of the persisting themes of democracy is how to keep from tempting thieves."

ELIE WIESEL

Wiesel: Against Indifference — The Nazi Holocaust — "If the world knew, why didn't the world act? How did they become deaf and mute to all that suffering? What really hurt was that the world knew and kept silent. How can you believe in the world? How can you believe in redemption? If we had known then, that Churchill, the world, everyone knew, some who survived would not have survived. They wanted to tell the tale. But everyone already knew. Poor people. I can't understand this kind of indifference. How can you believe in God?"

WILLIAM WINDOM

On James Thurber's Walter Mitty:
"Ta-pocketa, Ta-pocketa"

GENE RODDENBERRY

On Post Star-Trek: "My quarrel is with the system, the nature of commercial T.V. today . . . Innovative hit shows rarely escape the axe the first year."

SEYMOUR HERSH

On "The Press, Government, and Credibility": "We can't rely on the press to be savious of the Constitution . . . The press really had a significant role in keeping what we know as Watergate from us."

MARINA V.N. WHITMAN

BERMAN LECTURER IN ECONOMICS

"Until recently, we in the United States have had the perception of living in a bottomless cookie jar."

MARGARET MEAD

On "The Changing Roles of Males and Females": We have a world that doesn't want women to have children. We no longer expect women to devote their lives to having children and the pressure is for women to come out of the house . . ."

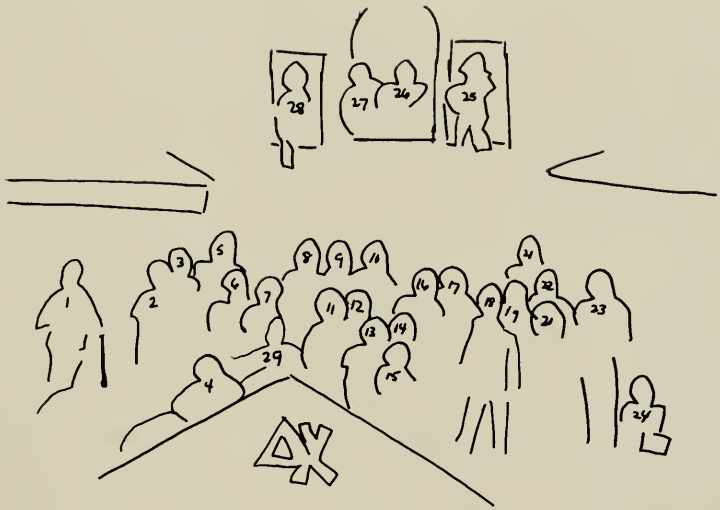
DELTA CHI



Delta Chi, the newest of Lehigh's national fraternities, enjoys an unusually favorable geographical location. It is located off-campus, affording the members the advantages of town living, but it is still closer to the Alumni Memorial Building, University Center, and Packard Lab than many of the Sayre Park houses. Thus, its members enjoy both independence and convenience.

Founded at Lehigh in 1950 and transformed into a national fraternity in 1952, Delta Chi is an established member of the interfraternity system. It draws its strength from varied interests of its membership, which includes phrases like:

"Let's go to Mike's"
"Hey, dude, what's happening?"
S.S. for the Steelers' game.
A little pong anyone?
or Annex run?

DELTA PHI

74-75 was a year of great glory
Just read on and see this all-too-true story
The year began almost quite innocently
Under the fine strong leadership of King Rundee
But it was the pledges that started things a rollin'
And will long be remembered for all that was stolen
It started to intensify in Pi Chapter friction
From which emanated a T-Bone Diction
Bitches became hogs
While stools became logs
No guy was a guy
But a dude at the Phi
And there was himself, Mr. Foltz
Who never leaves a room, but instead bolts

Disappointments reigned high as the year was without horney flicks
But as a zing Al Pepe once said . . . "We're all connected by some lower form of mathematics

Not to be forgotten was the infamous Fortunestealer
Remembered by many as a wheeler and dealer
Her meals were on time
But, shit, who stole mine?
So the vote was to expell him
But who was to tell him?
Well the ordeal is now over
But not due to Grover
A new man has come on the scene
Who's tall and dark and especially keen
He's a prolific 4.0
But his friends call him Joe!

Now don't go away because there's much more
For there are many we just can't ignore:

Friday night dinner at the Gute, a case of Bud . . . Jagger snags a Big "A" while Phil fumbles with the lunch hog . . . Zamu "burns" in the towering inferno . . . the infamous blimp-a-dilly strole . . . "What's his name, Fish Brain?" . . . Noodles looks up a strange brew . . . "Where's Hamden?" . . . He Spoke No English

On a cold, misty Idaho morning, the once proud Shoshone tribe arrived at their new home. It consisted of a few barrack-type buildings, a trading post, and the house of the Indian agent. Over 1000 proud years of Indian culture were about to end on this reservation.

Disgust was evident in all the faces of the braves, but none surpassed the countenance of the Shoshone chief; Chief Wishacke ("eagle with the large red nose").

Later that day, the Indian agent had his first meeting. Here he would outline to the once-fierce Shoshone their new way of life. Gone were the days of the hunt. Agriculture had overtaken them. The agent spoke to Wishacke through his interpreter and told him how it was to be. The Shoshone would become men of the soil, farmers of the good Idaho earth — they would plant potatoes.

A quizzical look came into Wishacke's eye. He grimaced, and the Indian agent began to fear for his life.

But all Wishacke said was, "Goddamn potato."

SIGMA CHI

Since the Sigma Chi's pictured here have elected not to write anything for this Epitome, we at Phi Gamma Delta thought it was time for the truth to come out about that illustrious house. Many have said that the Gammers have got no class, but take a look at these smiling Sig faces. Among these ranks are several individuals who have been wont to take off their clothes. Although we are all subject to this formality sometime every day, the Sigs manage to make this chore as somewhat of an informality.

The "Lehigh loafer" is epitomized in the form of forty Sigma Chi's who would be hard-pressed to name what they are taking this semester and who's teaching it. Hence, the social probation they seem to find themselves on every semester.

Finally, let us tell you what compassionate human beings these devils are. Everyone on campus knew the Sig's dogs, Snowball, Beanbag and Hubert. They no longer stand on line at the tree in front of Packard Lab. They no longer frolic after automobiles on the hill. These smiling, laughing Sigs threw Hubert away, hung Snowball and left Beanbag to die in the woods of Northern Pennsylvania. Look at them laughing Lehigh.

The truth has seen the light. We are satisfied.

SIGMA NU

. . . Which brings us to a discussion of frat life at Sigma Phi. This is not unlike a conversation with all of Jeffrey's friends. Nor is it dissimilar to driving an orange BMW on its roof. To say that Ferret has caught more cars than the Phi Delta have caught champagne bottles is not incorrect. Besides, huh . . . what? Where was I? Or a better question might be . . .

Ohhh! Yeah, who says we're not jocks. Everybody's always up for the games. In fact, we us they them were are ex-jockes. Zedenko Fibitch once said "Kimak-Umbach!" Is it time to stop Bombering around? No? O.K. . . .

What does D.D. really stand for? Or does he stand at all? What about Drip Styx? Are there fish after death? Wait a second, I'll go ask Mole.

And now for the ending, more or less. More more than less . . . Which brings us to the question, why are you reading this? (Gimme an S) Moreover, why am I writing this? Six or three or one. All aspirin's alike.

Thank you Beu!

ZETA PSI

As the rain silently falls and the beer flows from the taps, so we will soon bid farewell to those adorable seniors. They have seen alot of changes take place.

. . . a highly sophisticated house progressing (which way?)
. . . definitely an improvement at social functions?
. . . from swinging Sigmas to soul-singing superstars
. . . from UCLA hoopsters to piano players
. . . from the artisans in the crafts to the practical greaser type
. . . from brothers with level heads to those who jump from planes
. . . from South Americans to Middle Eastern oil ministers
. . . from wine sippers to beer guzzlers
. . . from furnished rooms to electrified bed chambers
. . . from furniture dissemblers to piano renovators.
. . . from non-coms to karate classes

And the biggest change
Peas in the meatloaf

We are now a band of blended individuals who are all psyched on the house. (Can you tell from the picture?)

Joe Alleva and Jim Addonizio co-captained the '74 football team. Alleva quarterbacked the explosive offense and Addonizio spearheaded the stingy defense.

Posting a 7–3 record the gridders had the ECAC Rookie of the Year in tailback Mark Weaver, an honor Rod Gardner had in '73.

The defense shared the accomplishment of holding nationally ranked Delaware to a mere fourteen points in a heartbreaking 14–9 loss.

And of major importance, Lehigh routed Lafayette 57–7. Enough said!

CROSS-COUNTRY

Probably the most successful sports team at Lehigh this year was the Engineer cross-country squad. Competing against the top runners in the area, the team came away with an excellent 12–1 record. Loaded with talent, the squad took first place laurels at both the East Coast Conference championships and the IC4As. Not many teams have accomplished this sweep.

Voted the most outstanding runner at the end of the year was Wayne Rogers. All Wayne did to deserve the honor was to pace the team by winning at the ECCs, and coming in 3rd at the IC4As. The only disappointing aspect of Rogers' year is the fact that he is a senior, and will graduate. His absence will be sorely missed, for it is not easy to replace a runner of his worth.

Stellan Thoren also was outstanding for the team, as he finished in the top 10 at the IC4As. With this kind of talent returning in abundance, Lehigh cross-country fans can look forward to excellent performances for years to come. As the team's reputation improves, more high school runners with the quality of Rogers and Thoren will certainly be attracted to Lehigh.

The runners only loss this year was at the hands of an extremely talented Penn squad. This one loss, however, could not dampen the winning spirit which prevailed throughout the season. This was evidenced by the fact that the runners rebounded from that loss to upset Army 27–28. Army was considered by many to be one of the best, if not the best team in the East. Other highlights of the season included victories over Temple, NYU, and La Salle. It was a fine year for Lehigh cross-country.

Final Record 5–7–2

It was a disappointing season for the booters. After beating nationally ranked Penn and MAC finalist LaSalle, the season was marred by losses to Gettysburg and Lafayette, two teams the Engineers were capable of beating.

Leading scorers Jimmy O'Donnell and Skip DiMassa will return at forward next year. The defense will be hurt by the graduation of Hank Kelly, Dick Lucard, and Ted White. This still leaves stalwart fullback Bob Weick and goalie Larry Kelley. Both were sophomores last year.

This was probably the most talented club the Engineers have ever had, as evidenced by their victories over Penn, LaSalle and other tough squads like Rutgers and West Chester. Lack of psych against some of the lesser teams on the schedule cost the booters both a winning season and the MAC championship.

The team had trouble getting out of a win one, lose one situation early in the season. Highlights of the season included an exciting 3–2 victory over Mulhenburg; the team's first win over the Mules in three years. Coach Tom Fleck expressed great satisfaction over his team's 2–0 blanking of his alma mater West Chester. The future looks bright.

Final Record 1–23

Hustle and team spirit prevailed throughout the Engineer Basketball season, despite a disappointing 1–23 log. The cagers were paced by leading scorer Bill Milligan and pivot man Charlie Brown. Highlights of the season were the team's only victory, over Gettysburg, and a surprisingly good showing against arch-rival Lafayette. The season ended with the resignation of head coach Tom Pugliese. Brian Hill, former assistant and now successor to Pugliese, has a fine crop of underclassmen returning from the varsity and junior varsity, which finished with a fine winning season.

EIWA 1st place
NCAA 5th place

In what looks more like a Lehigh team picture than a photo of Eastern champs, Mike Frick (third from left on bottom) displays his "most outstanding" award. It was Frick's second award. Pictured are: first row (left to right) — Lance Leonhardt, George Bryant (Pitt), Mike Frick, Pat Sculley, Ken Wilson (Syracuse). Second Row — John Janiak (Syracuse), Mark Lieberman, Mike Lieberman, Don McCorkel, and Terry DeStito.

The grapplers won the EIWA crown for the first time since 1967, with a record seven champions. Mark Lieberman, a freshman, was the first Lehigh recipient of the Billy Sheridan award, symbolic of the wrestler with the most pins in the least amount of time.

Mike Frick won his second championship, this time at 134. In beating Pitt's Rande Stottlemeyer, 16–8, Frick won his second "most outstanding" trophy.

The two big surprises for the Engineers were Marty Lynn and Don McCorkel. Lynn, wrestling at 126, beat Navy's first-seeded Mike Beck in the semi-finals before bowing to George Bryant in the finals.

McCorkel in his first championship scored the upset of the tournament by beating Navy's other first seed, Jeff Simons, in the finals.

Navy transfer Lance Leonhardt won the 118 pound championship by downing former teammate Mark Costello in the finals, 11–9, avenging an earlier loss in the dual meet.

The toughest weight class at Annapolis was 142, and this spot was ably manned by Pat Sculley. Sculley, whose only loss during the regular season came at the hands of Iowa's Joe Amore, soundly beat former NCAA champ Dan Muthler in the semis before beating Yale's Jim Bennet in the finals. Bennet went on to win this year's NCAA championship at Princeton.

150 was a troublesome weight for the Engineers this year. A total of four matches were won during the season. Armin Vaihinger had two of victories and wrestled in the Easterns. A natural 142 pounder, he lost two tough matches.

A new record for most victories in a year was set by Mike Lieberman. His 18 victories passed the record set last year by Tom Sculley, Terry DeStito, and Frick (17). He won the 177 pound crown by beating Rutgers' Steve Bonsall in the finals.

DeStito, the only champ that Lehigh will lose by graduation, almost didn't make it to the finals as he injured his shoulder in his first match. He recovered to score two quick pins and win his second championship in as many years by mauling Navy's Mark Stepanovich in the finals.

The 16 victories by the Engineers was also a school record. Their losses came to Iowa and Cal Poly while they had ties against Iowa State and Penn State.

Number 1 in the East . . .

After setting records at Annapolis, the Engineers went to Princeton for the Nationals.

Their 54 points was a school record. They had two national champs in Mike Frick and Mike Lieberman. Terry DeStito took a fifth place at heavyweight.

Frick, a fourth seed, beat first-seeded Mark Belknap, 11–7, in the semis before crushing Oklahoma's Brian Beatson in the finals. His performance earned him yet another "most outstanding" trophy, the first Lehigh winner of the award since 1955.

Lieberman, a third seed, wrecked Slippery Rock's Bill Shuffstall in the semis. He faced Iowa's Chris Campbell in the finals. Campbell, who had beaten Lieberman in the dual meet, was winning 4–3 late in the last period when Lieberman converted on a power trip for a takedown and held on to win by a point.

MAC Champs — Again

Every other sport seems to play second fiddle to the wrestling team during the winter season, but this didn't deter the hockey team from running away with the Middle Atlantic Conference championship for the second year in a row.

In only its third year of varsity standing, the team has met with nothing but success. Needless to say, posting a 10–4–2 record for the '74–75 season pleased first year coach Joe Biedron (Elmira '73).

Biedron had a strong nucleus of sophomores and juniors to go along with only two seniors: alternate captain Doug Hansen and Ken Ludlum. Six freshmen rounded out the Engineer sextet. The new coach also bolstered the hockey team's schedule in '74–'75. They tackled the University of Pennsylvania J.V.'s (Division I); University of New Haven and Elmira College (both Division II); and Amherst College, a Division III rival.

The '74–'75 season had several highlights, including establishing two new University records. Sophomore Bob Oliwa eclipsed the individual scoring mark, shattering the old standard of 33 points, with his 25 goals-25 assists for 50 points on the season. The team gained another scoring honor. The '74–'75 team scored 114 goals, surpassing the previous mark of 97.

Good scoring and open play characterized the Engineer hockey team. The Brown and White trounced the opposition with scores such as 11–3, 10–1, 11–5, 10–5 and the most lopsided game of the year, versus arch rival Lafayette, 18–3. The old adage, "the best defense is a good offense," seemed to be the team's motto. Alternate captain, Mike Dale, a rushing defenseman, strengthened the Team's offensive punch by being the number two scorer on the squad (16 goals-21 assists-37 pts.)

This fast pace provided Lehigh followers with exciting hockey all season long. In the game against the North Penn Eagles, the fans had all the action they could handle. A three-goal hat trick was scored by Dale, the score board showed a 7–1 victory and there was a third period brawl in the penalty box involving the entire North Penn bench and the six Engineers on the ice, plus Lehigh's team manager Jim Marino.

Villanova came to the Al-Beth Ice Palace on February 25 to do battle with the Engineers for the MAC crown. Emotions and elbows were high in this important confrontation. A previous 5–5 tie at Villanova set the stage for this meeting. After a scoreless first period, the Wildcats took a quick 2–0 lead in the middle stanza. That stood until Oliwa tallied a power play goal with a minute left in the period to start the Engineer comeback.

It all boiled down to a 20-minute game and league supremacy. The boards resounded with body checks and the tempo of the game rose with the fans' cheers. Freshman Marv Langley tied the game up and captain Marc Rinaldi scored the game winner on a breakaway that caught the goalie flat-footed. Alex Lamar, another frosh, put the icing on the MAC cake with a goal. At the buzzer the Brown and White swarmed goalie Pete Bechtel in a triumphant celebration.

All the hustle, hard work, and desire on the part of the players, Biedron, and assistant coach Bruce Schennum, paid off in that game. Much of the same style, flair and success of the 74–75 hockey team and more is expected to thrill Engineer hockey fans in the 75–76 season.

Led by captain Ken Miller, the rifle team continued to be the winningest team at Lehigh. The team has had only one losing season in the last 21 years, and this year's edition proved no exception. Master Sergeant Robert Dunn, in his first year as coach of the team, expressed tremendous satisfaction and pride with the squad's spirit and performance throughout the long five month season. With five Freshmen, two Sophomores, and three Juniors returning next year, another winning season is forecast.

Final Record 5–7

Despite a disappointing 5–7 record, coach Bruce Gardner found some rays of sunshine in his 1975 Engineer swim team. The highlight of the season was the squads 4th place finish at the 1975 ECC championships. Last year's team only finished 8th at the tournament.

Standouts at the ECCs included Bob Roth who placed 3rd and 5th in the 100 and 200 yard breaststroke respectively, and Kevin Silva, who finished 5th in the 100 yard butterfly. Bill Holtenhoff took a 6th in the 200 yard butterfly and Jim Ritter also finished 6th in the 50 yard freestyle.

The season opened with close losses to Temple and Penn State and the swimmers were never able to completely recover. The future looks extremely bright for a team which was very young this year. All of the place winners at the ECCs will return next year. Roth, probably the most talented member of the squad, will be co-captain along with Charles Brewer. They will be taking over for this year's duo of George Ferrio and Dave Stephens.

The team will also miss the presence of Steve Folsom, who will be lost to graduation. Folsom has been a top varsity performer for four years. Things are definitely on the upswing for the Lehigh swimming program.

An extremely young tennis team, despite a losing record, displayed promise and continued improvement throughout the season. With only one senior on the roster, 1975 has to be regarded as somewhat of a rebuilding year for coach John Whitehead's racketeers. Five lettermen returned to the team in the spring, but only two of them — team captain Bruce Smith and Jack Ridge — were regulars in 1974. Among the underclassmen who contributed to the team's effort were Ernie Dianastasis, Nick Hano, Bill Long, Dan Tiles, and Charlie Salmon.

The Engineer's added a spring trip to their program this year for the first time. Despite losses to Richmond, Hampden-Sydney, Washington & Lee, William & Mary, and North Carolina, the team finished up the trip with a big win over a good Pfeiffer squad, and returned home with valuable experience.

Hot-hitting Mike Deschler and Mark Edwards co-captained this year's Engineer baseball team to a highly successful campaign. The sackers, once again, greatly enjoyed the early season Southern trip which had them return home with a 3–5 record. Included in the southern swing were two games with national power Georgia Southern. Although the team dropped both of those games, they gained valuable experience which enabled them to compile a winning log against less talented clubs up north.

Nine lettermen returned to this years squad, including three hurlers. The returning moundsmen were righthanders Paul Hartzell and Stan Sterner, who had an outstanding year, and southpaw Steve Clark. Deschler led the team in hitting, along with the rest of the division, as he breezed by most of the season at an amazing .400 clip.

Final Record 5–6

Coming off a somewhat disappointing 3–7 season in 1974, this year's lacrosse team was looking for bigger and better things. Although their record does not indicate it, the 1975 Engineer lacrosse team was much improved. An early season loss to Wilkes College typified the kind of frustrating season it was, as the visitors tallied the winning goal in the last minute of play.

Coach Tom Gilburg, in his fourth season as lacrosse mentor, expressed satisfaction with the team's spirit, which it displayed throughout the season. The team co-captains were high scoring Steve Skeen and Paul Barnes. Both Skeen and Barnes carried much of the team's offensive load. Good defensive performances were turned in by Phil McCarthy, Jay Rich, Roland East, Barry Wood, and Paul Zimmerman. Bruce Crystal and Bill Cochran bolstered the middies, while Damon Keyes stood out in goal.

The team's biggest problem this season was its failure to put its spirit and skill together for more than one half of each game. A tough East Coast Conference schedule didn't help the squad out either. Engineer fans can look forward to increasingly strong teams in the years to come. The steady improvement of the Lehigh lacrosse program is evidenced by the fact that five of Coach John Luckhardt's J.V. players from last year saw varsity action this season. From the looks of things, that number can only increase.

While most of the Lehigh student body were relaxing over the spring break, the Engineer track team was tediously participating in an international tri-meet in Barbados. The meet signaled the beginning of another successful campaign for Coach John Covert's thinclads. Although the team finished second to tough Seton Hall, it garnered experience for the upcoming season. The Engineer's also took pleasure in the tremendous improvement of the Barbados International team, which finished a close third. Many of the stellar performances of the Barbados team were a direct result of the clinics the Lehigh team had held in 1972.

Among the highlights of the season was the team's 75–70 victory over defending MAC champion West Chester. In that meet the trackmen showed their worth by winning eight of ten running events behind Jim Kappel, and distance standouts Stellan Thoren and Wayne Rogers. Coach Covert attributed his team's success this year to many "fine individual performances".

Coach Gerry Leeman's golf team compiled another winning log in 1975. The season opened with an eight day tuneup in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, which was highlighted by Freshman Mike Versuk's 73 on the very demanding Bay Tree Plantation Country Club course. Versuk's outstanding single round established a new course record for an amateur player, and secured him the position of top shooter on the squad for the beginning of the season.

Other standouts on the team included junior Tom Porsch, frosh Bob Statler, junior Jim Coles, senior Glenn Strow, junior Bob Sharpe and frosh Len Sniscak, in the respective order of their position on the team throughout most of the year. The Engineers finished an impressive third at the tough East Coast Conference Championships held in April.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

This seemed to be the year to rout Lafayette in football. The men overwhelmed the Pards; they had an example to follow, though. The weekend before, the Powder Puff squad destroyed Lafayette, 46–0.

Pam Watson and Lori Collmann found their way into the previously all-male confines of Lehigh football records. Watson completed 14 of 17 passes for 375 yards and six touchdowns, both new single game marks. Collmann was unstoppable. She simply outran everyone, including referees, when she caught the ball. The Engineer defense stymied everything Lafayette tried, including an Olympic-class sprinter masquerading as a half-back. Mindy Fener, Judy Manns, LeAnn Kulp, Nancy Lattin, Diane Gable and friends seemed to spend the whole day with either flags or the ball in their hands. With Watson, Collmann, most of the line and the whole defensive backfield returning, next year should see another record-setting game.

Final Record 5–3

Field hockey was the first sport established for women at Lehigh. After enduring several seasons of losing games and gaining experience, the squad began to put it all together and finished with a 5–3 season this year. A team with four freshmen in the line-up might not be expected to work as a unit at first. This was not the case for the Engineers. Carol Hart, Lori Collmann, Sue Robinson and Cheryl Kolp were all valuable additions. On offense, Collmann and Robinson kept goalies on edge; defensively, Hart and Kolp turned in fine performances. Co-Captains Judy Manns and Helen Barr were a large part of the Lehigh attack. Manns, a senior center forward, was the team's leading scorer. Left inner Barr also provided her share of goals. Halfbacks play a pivotal role in hockey and the Engineers had plenty of help from theirs. Michele Stoudt, Dee Sultzer and Carol Hart set up the offense with lead passes, and kept attackers honest with rough defense. Fran Mearns, a junior, stood her ground well in the goal. Six players were chosen to play in a post-season all-star tournament, in which Judy Manns earned a spot on the first team. With only Manns and Stoudt graduating, and a group of talented underclassmen, the team has the potential to pick up where it left off this year and improve their record even more.

Final Record 4–5

The Lehigh Women's Varsity Swim Team had their best record ever during the 1974–75 season. Their bid for a winning season was denied, however, as a result of a 58–28 loss to Bloomsburg during the season finale. The future for the women's swim team looks very bright. Coach Helen Bond's tram smashed five of the ten team records, with freshman Maureen Madden leading the way. Freshman Mary Jane Haesche consistently performed well in the diving event. The 200-yard freestyle relay team set the new Lehigh record of 1:54:2 during the Women's Eastern Swimming Championships. Seniors Toni Connell and Ginny Thompson have left their mark at Lehigh. They hold a combination of three individual records, and each swam a leg on the record-setting 200-yard medley relay team. The team also participated in the national Swim-a-Thon, and in January travelled to Florida to train in the Swimming Hall of Fame pool. During February, the mermaids swept a triangular meet at LaSalle, providing one of the season's highlights.

Women played two new sports this year. Lacrosse enjoyed a successful season highlighted by two wins over Lafayette. Judy Manns and Lori Collmann provided offense, while Dee Sultzer and Jeanne Bonney anchored the defense. Basketball finished 2–5 with a 32–28 win over Lafayette. Inexperience and injuries hurt the team, in spite of fine performances by Sue Woytkewicz, Cheryl Kolp and Sue Sachs.

Women's tennis came into its own this year, finishing with an undefeated (8–0) record. Several freshmen were instrumental in giving Lehigh its first perfect record for a women's team. Patty Handwerk lost only once, and outplayed the rest of her opponents at first singles. Lynn Lasser and Ginger Wisham showed excellent promise as doubles players. They had considerable help from their perspective partners, Kathy Murphy and Pam Watson. Senior Wendy Brower's powerful game gave her seven wins at second singles.

Pat Henry, a sophomore, came on strong to finish with a 4–1 record. The team shut out Moravian and Centenary 5–0 and handed Lafayette a 4–1 setback.

Since the squad is a relatively young one, the winning habits of this year can be expected to continue for quite some time.

One of the first things that Women's Coach Helen Bond will tell you about women's sports at Lehigh is, "It's a challenge" — but she means it in only the best sense. In fact, the challenge of starting a new program is one of the major reasons she and rookie co-coach Barbara Everhart came to Lehigh.

— On the Women's Sports Program: "Generally the program is going very well. In fact, we even had to have cuts this year. The caliber of woman athlete is improving every year.

— On Facilities: They can't be helped. We're still hurting. When they decided to have women here, they didn't go into it deeply enough . . .

— On Expansion: "Gymnastics and track are a possibility. Some interest has been expressed, but its not in our immediate future. We're still trying to expand the schedules."

GROUND OFFICIALLY BROKEN FOR FAIRCHILD LABORATORY

Official groundbreaking ceremonies were held in April for the $1.8-million Sherman Fairchild Laboratory for Solid State Studies at Lehigh University. (An architectural rendering of the laboratory is above.)

Dr. Joseph F. Libsch said: "The new facility, which is scheduled for completion in August of 1976, will provide for a concentration of people and equipment which should help Lehigh to contribute to, and remain at the cutting edge, of solid state developments in the future."

The laboratory is being made possible at Lehigh by a $5.25-million grant from The Fairchild Foundation. The major gift includes, in addition to the building, two endowed professorships, eight graduate fellowships, ten undergraduate scholarships, and a major lecture series.

Others taking part in the groundbreaking included Dr. Deming Lewis, Lehigh President; Edward G. Uhl, President of Fairchild Industries, Inc.; and University Trustees Edward A. Curtis and Frank C. Rabold, Chairman and Vice Chairman, respectively, of the Board's Physical Planning and Plant Committee.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

There are several individuals who, except for pages like this, would go unmentioned and who were integral to the production of the 1975 Epitome. As a group, the senior class responded to their yearbook en masse with an enthusiasm (financial and otherwise) that has been unprecedented in recent years. Because the Epitome receives no University funding, that response was much appreciated. Advisor Sharon Friedman walked into a new job as professor of Journalism at Lehigh this year and became a superb yearbook advisor as well. She has big plans for the future, which can only mean yearly improvements in upcoming Epitomes. I would like to thank Prof. Robert Sullivan for his moral support through the publication of this book and other ventures, and Journalism Division secretary Gerri Scudner for keeping the communications channels open. Marvin Simmons' work for the cover and the dividers is one of the strongest elements of the yearbook — my thanks. Finally, I would like to thank the staff of the 1975 Epitome for coming through, so many times.
